"The Song Remains The Same"

Although faces change each year, Glenbard East continues to open its doors every September to new and returning students. Throughout the year, traditional events including homecoming, school plays, concerts, and athletic competitions provide a place for students to meet and be entertained. Clubs and activities encourage students to get involved during their four years at GE. Whether students continue their education after high school, get married, or go to work, their experiences at GE are a foundation for their lives after they graduate.

Among the ever present sights at GE were the change machine where phantom graffitists struck repeatedly during the year, broken lights and locks, musical instruments including cumbersome tubas, gum appearing in odd places, students catching a four o'clock bus, gold fish brightening up pale science rooms, the biology greenhouse, and the power of the "mighty" Rams symbolized by a sunset.

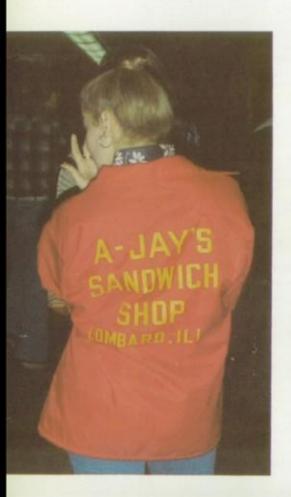

GE Styles

Each year new fashions appear in Glenbard East hallways, last year's styles fade out, and casual clothing continues to be seen. New 1976-77 fashions included gauchos, wedge hairstyles, and unusual T-shirts. Blue jeans, however, continued to be the most common sight of all at Glenbard East. Comfortable shoes replaced high heels and platforms, and although many girls had their hair cut short others continued to wear it long. The desire to be "unique" influenced the way people dressed. Girl's "I Luv U" and "oui" T-shirts caught the attention of members of the opposite sex, and among the more unusual outfits at GE were the classy combinations of PE uniform and street clothes.

Living up to the theme "How the West Was Won", the Rams conquered West Leyden in the traditional homecoming football game. For the second year in a row, Student Council assembled a full week of homecoming activities including the coronation, parade, pep rally, Friday night social, football games, alumni tea, and climaxed with the semi-formal dance. For the first time ever, they organized a rodeo consisting of a tricycle race and a car pushing contest. Unlike past years, a homecoming king, in addition to the queen, was chosen by the student body to reign over the week's events.

Convo

The student council sponsored several convos this year that, despite technical difficulties, broke up the monotony of every day classes. Among the topics presented at the convos were poems and expressive writing, mass communications, and advertizing. The Air Force sponsored a mobile display unit that was brought to the school. Students could tour the display during their lunch periods or gym classes.

Foreign Exchange

More foreign exchange students attended GE during the 1976-1977 school year than ever before. The students came from such programs as American Field Service, Youth For Understanding, and Rotary Club.

S.C. Activities

Student Council organized several events throughout the school year. They started the year off with something new — a Friday night homecoming parade followed by a pep rally. On the next day the football game and semi-formal dance were held. Student Council held other annual events such as the Folk Fest and "De Ja Vu", where G E students and alumni performed folk music. The second Winter Semi-Formal dance featured Jazmin Band. At the highly acclaimed Senior Citizen's Seminar, members of the Lombard Park District's Senior Citizens Club joined G E students to discuss topics ranging from inflation to sex. The April 1st dance was a first for G E's "Fools". "The Band with No Name" supplied the entertainment. At the Junior Chamber of Commerce Carnival, the Student Council, in co-operation with the G E Athletic Department and the Lombard Jaycees, sponsored a dunking booth. Student Council also organized several convos including readings by a poet, two multi-media presentations, and the rock band, "Earth Opera."

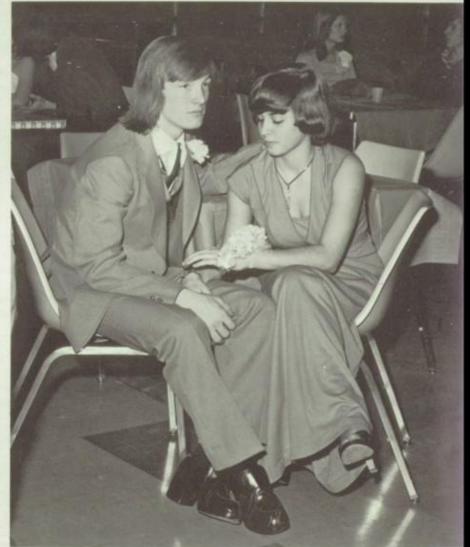

Winter Wonderland

The theme for the second annual winter semi-formal was expressed by giant snowflakes and snowmen. The dance was sponsored by the Student Council. Jazmin, the featured band, also played at last year's prom.

Dances

This year saw organizations sponsor some dances at GE for a variety of reasons. Muscular Dystrophy Dancea-Thon raised funds for M. D. Homecoming was a gala event, and everyone danced. Pep Club sponsored a sock-hop. Whatever the reasons may have been for holding the dances, students came to dance and have fun!

Odd Couple

The Odd Couple, the hilarious comedy by Neil Simon, was performed by eight actors under the direction of Mr. Charles Eichler. The well-known story is based on two New York bachelors who share the same apartment.

Art Show

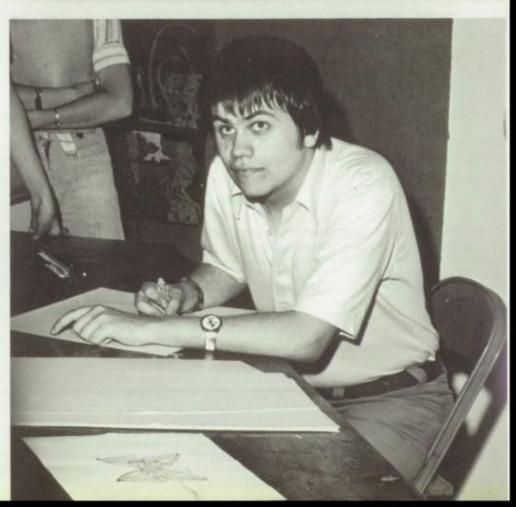

Each year the Art Department puts on an Art Show for the students and parents. This year, as in past years, the show was held in the north balcony for two days. During this time, the art students display their projects. These projects are judged by all the art teachers, and awards are given. This is also the time when the faculty shows off its artistic skills. While the Art Show is on, students from each art area put on short displays that show how different techniques are done.

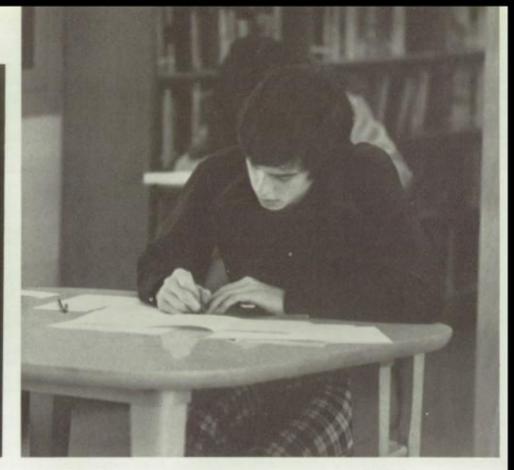

Math Contest

The 1977 annual high school mathematics regional contest results listed Glenbard East on the State honor roll of the top decile of the 366 participating schools.

This year 103 top math students took the test. Senior Larry Schertz was listed on the state honor roll for individuals with scores of 80 or above.

MDA Dance

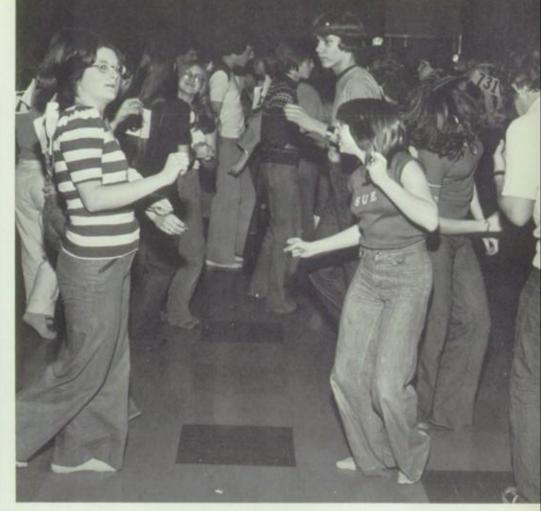

This year at GE students held a Dance-athon. For ten hours the students dances to three different bands to help raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. More than 250 students participated and more than $7525 was raised. The money raised went to further the research for MD, a disease that cripples people of all ages. The theme of the dance was "Dance For Those Who Can't."

The Taming Of The Shrew

In May the Glenbard East Drama Department presented its final play of the year. "Shakespeare without Pain" was the slogan of the GE western version of The Taming of the Shrew, the timeless Shakespearian play. The play was presented in an American Old West setting so that audiences could more readily identify with it.
The plot centered around the marriages of a beautiful, desirable maiden and her sister, a wild, reckless tomboy.

GE Fashion Show

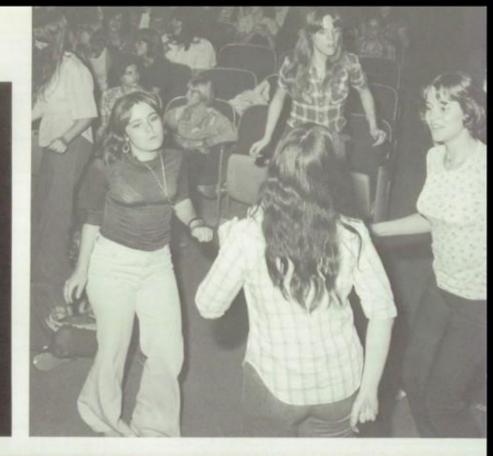

The public was invited to attend the Home Economics Department fashion show on Thursday, April 28. Mrs. Sally Petit, chairman of the show, and her student assistant, Noel Bourdage, planned the event with the help of other Home Ec. teachers and students. More than 65 outfits were modeled by members of beginning, intermediate, and advanced clothing classes as well as those in the flat patterns and tailoring classes. The entertainment between scenes included live banjo music, the Home Economics awards presentations, and folk music sung by the Glenbard East Madrigals.

Earth Opera

One of the highlights of the year for Student Council was presenting a rock group from Denver, Colorado, called Earth Opera. The entire student body had an opportunity to hear the group at a play convo. Another 600 students bought tickets to hear Earth Opera at an evening performance. It was a successful night of entertainment, with some students receiving free tickets to other performances and many music-goers buying records of the group.

Locker Clean-Up

On June 1 the annual locker fumigation ritual freshened the air in G E hallways. A general announcement during 2nd hour classes told students to empty their lockers of all garbage accumulated during a year of use. The chaos created by such a project left janitors stupified as to when they could ever finish cleaning up the mess. In order to lessen their work, the custodians placed hugh garbage cans throughout the hallways for students to fill with refuse.

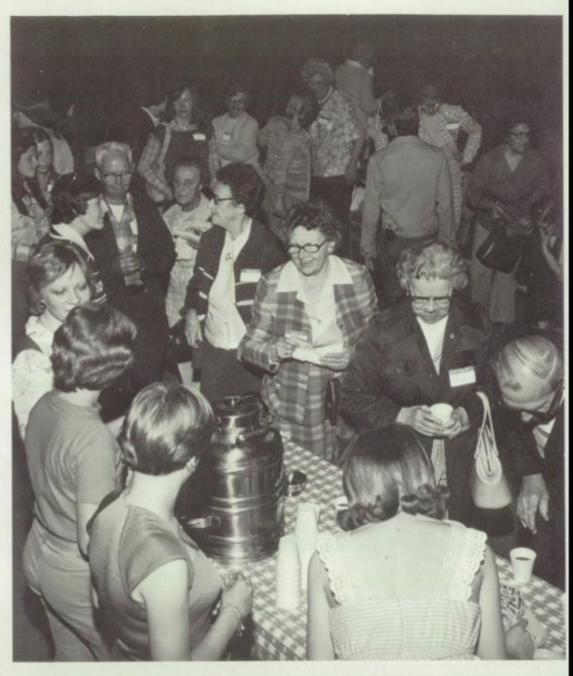

Senior Citizens Day

Many retired Lombard area residents became G E "honorary alumni" on Senior Citizen's Day. Student Council member Karen King headed the committee which organized a day of entertainment for seventy students and seventy-five visiting senior citizens. After welcoming participants and making necessary introductions, several students led discussion groups which were organized in Biester Auditorium. Coffee and rolls were served to all during the mid-morning break. Our student group leaders gave the honorary alumni a tour of the building. After lunch, stage band gave a concert of "big band" music which inspired many students and visiting seniors to get up and dance.

Lilac Parade

The annual Lilac Parade theme for 1977 was "Fifty Years of Talking Pictures." This year the Lilac court consisted of Lilac queen, Liz Pool, G E princess Carrie Dexter, and G E alumni Cindy Scavone, Melody Chrisman, and LouAnn Santelli. As in past years, this event was eagerly awaited, and merchants throughout Lombard who sponsored the beautiful floats, gave a great deal of thought and effort toward making this event a success. The Lilac festivities always end on a high note - a formal ball for all Lombardians to attend was held at The Carlisle.

Travel

While many of us were preoccupied with events here in Lombard, a total of 52 Glenbard East students embarked upon some interesting trips to France, Mexico, and Russia over the spring holiday.

French students traveled to the Riviera, made their way to Grenoble, which is located in the center of the Alps, and visited Paris, the beautiful French capital. Nine Spanish students stayed with Mexican families while sightseeing in Mexico. This group saw many interesting cultural and historical sites, including Chapultepec Park, the Pyramids of Teotihuacan, and the renowned Ballet Folklorico. A total of 20 students and adults visited Leningrad and Moscow. Here they explored the Hermitage and the Kremlin and attended a Russian circus and the world-famous Bolshoi Theatre.

MDA Convo

Muscular Dystrophy Dance-a-Thon helped raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, a nationwide organization whose purpose is to find a cure for dystrophy victims and to help make life more comfortable for those afflicted with this disease.

After the money was collected from students who participated in the Dance-a-Thon, those who raised the greatest amounts were proclaimed winners and an after school convo was held to celebrate the fact. These winners received awards. Steve Szmurlo won a stereo, and Michelle Reale garnered a 10-speed bike as her prize.

NHS

New members were initiated into the National Honor Society at a ceremony on May 10. The program included the traditional candle lighting service and the presentation of pins to new members. Dr. Robert Seaton, board member for District 87, was the guest speaker and directed his comments toward the challenges facing NHS members. Members to the Society were selected on the following qualities: scholarship, leadership, character, and service, All seniors with a 4.0 average are considered for membership into the Society along with juniors who have achieved a 4.3 grade point average.

Commencement

In a show of confetti and soap bubbles, the class of 1977 ended its four years at Glenbard East. The coolest temperatures in GE history enabled 580 graduating seniors, along with friends, relatives, and band members, to sit comfortably throughout the ceremony. Graduates were elated with the thought of not having to take exams, content with a feeling of accomplishment, and anxious to get on with the planned graduation festivities.

To My One True Love

I think you are an idiot,
and furthermore, a stupid git.
Your face? Attractive as raw beef;
Complexion? Like an autumn leaf.
Your hair's as stringy as a mop,
Too bad it only covers the top.
To gaze upon you causes literal fright
and what are you doing on Saturday night?

Life or Eternity

Life is but a fleeting vision of eternity. Love, hate, laughing, and crying, we do see. Forever is tomorrow; tomorrow is forever, For peace and love, forever I'll endeavor. Men are made of dirt and rain, whole, Yet they're made also, also of soul. I'll worry not where this soul shall be, When I'm buried deep, in earth or the sea. I know now only that which I be. Tomorrow I know not, it is impossible to see. My purpose now, my purpose is living, A living known only, only but giving. Why worry now of a God and a future? If, to your soul, your heart it is pure. Living is not afar, nor from afar to hear. But living is to love those whom are near. I ask not for a heaven secure, what for? These beliefs, of hypocrisy I do abhor. I ask only to live, not exist, And to such an end I'll always persist!

Motherless

Why is the little blue whale moaning?
Why isn't his mother comforting him?
Why is he so pityfully groaning?
Why is the little one looking so grim?
How come he doesn't play with the others?
How come there is no one but his father?
How come the little whale's mother has left home?
Where did the little blue whale's mother go?
Where will the whale go to hide from his foe?
Where will the whale go to stop his hunger?
Whale, do you wonder where is your mother?
Then blame humans for killing your mother.

A bird flies
Swiftly over
The calm ocean
Swooping at times
Toward the water
But always returning Home toward
The sky above.

Then, a sudden Gust of wind Catches the bird And hurls it Into the cold Water far below.

Again the bird Flies home to the sky Disappearing this time From the earth forever. Kristi Arndt '77

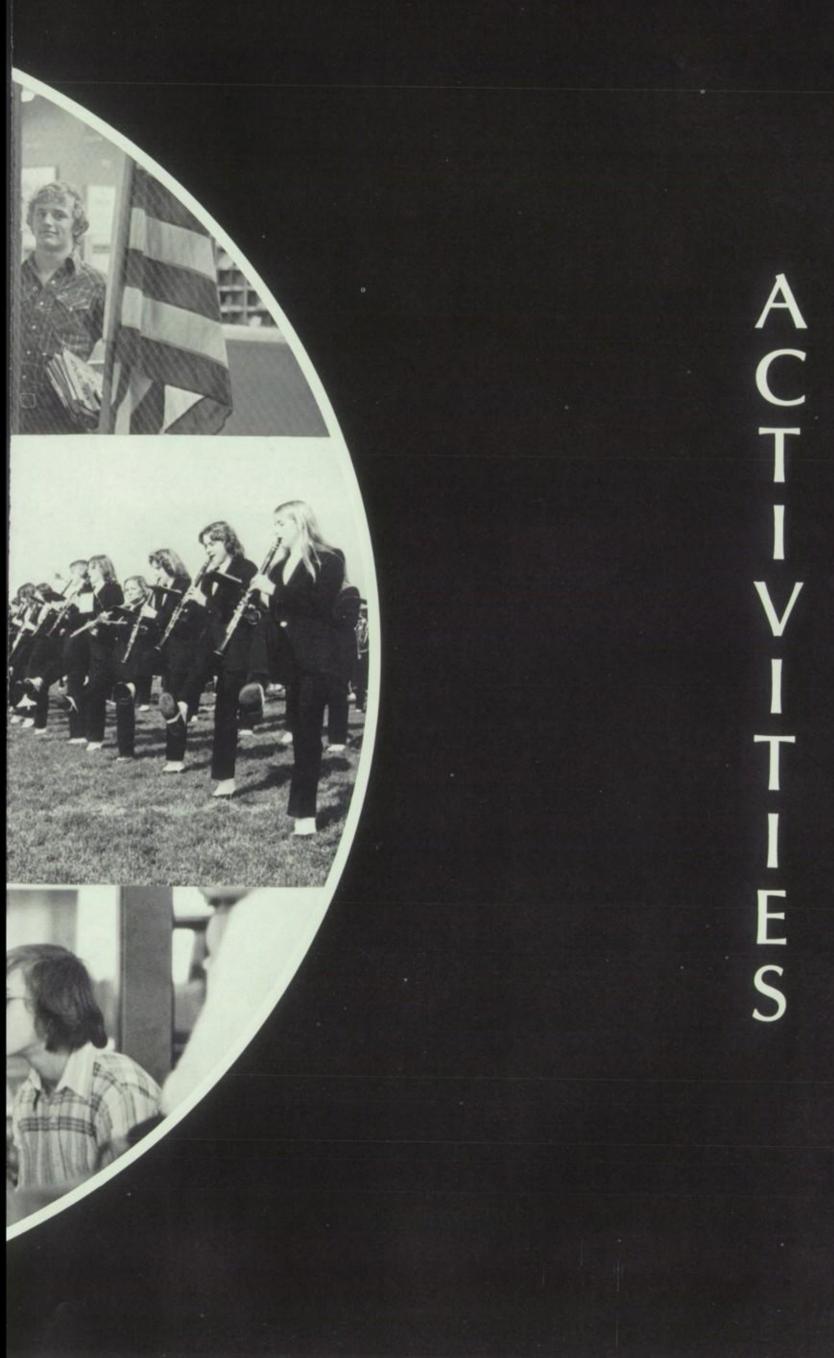

"Rt. 53"

As I lie in bed awake, Besides the sounds the crickets make, I heard a hum, a buzzing sound So I made my way across the town, Until I came closer and closer to the hiss, Nearer and nearer until I thought that something was amiss. For the soft gentle hiss had become a roar. It grew lounder, and louder, and louder. Suddenly I saw this thing that made the sound, As it made its way past the town, A concrete snake with flashing lights Made this sound that I heard at night. On it, thousands of steel beasts came rushing by That belched putrid smoke that made a smell And made my eyes wet. I decided I did not like this place, So back across town I raced Back to the softness of my head. Now I know the hissing sound As it comes from across the town From far away. I like it well But up close, it's a part of hell. Dave Anthony '77

American Field Service

Though the American Field Service hasfew people involved, its purpose is far-reaching. The object of A.F.S. is to encourage people from different lands and cultures to talk and walk together so that they might get to know one another and promote a basis for friendship amongst nations. This year the foreign exchange student at G E was Chico Correa of Brazil. Two G E students spent time learning about people in other countries — Ruth Smith, who went to Paraguay and Kirk Stienam, who went to Bolivia.

Mu Alpha Theta

Forty-seven students at Glenbard East were honored by election into Mu Alpha Theta, an international high school and junior college math club. To be eligible for membership, juniors or seniors had to have completed at least five semesters of college preparatory mathematics and be enrolled in a sixth semester of math with an overall "B" grade average in all their high school work. Carolyn Hempen served as the faculty sponsor for the Mu Alpha Theta chapter at Glenbard East.

National Honor Society

One of the chief functions of the Society is to plan the initiation of its new members. Since the initiation does not take place until early May, the members spend the remainder of the year acting as tutors for students at G E who might need assistance in some particular subject area. For this service NHS members who tutor are paid $1.00 an hour. One-half of this fee goes to the tutor, the other one-half to the NHS treasury.

Agape

The Greek word Agape means love. In Christian theology it means God's love for man, spontaneous love. Agape is an organization for those students who want some religious guidance. The club meets every Friday throughout the year and discusses problems, religion, and current events. It is open to any student at any time. About once a month the club has a meeting at which time only singing is done. Any student is invited to come and sing along or to bring a guitar and play music.

Tri-S

Tri-S was a club which worked to serve people within the school and the community. The club name, Tri-S stood for service, social, and scholarship This year, Tri-S helped sponsor the MDA Dance and held a tea for the teachers.

Echo

Under the newly appointed advisorship of Mr. Robert Lindsey, the Echo staff continued to be in the forefront of high school publications. NISPA presented a Golden Eagle Award to Echo as it has in several past years for excellence in journalism. Echo received five out of six awards in various categories including news reporting, news analysis, sports writing, feature writing, and photography. On the national level, junior Todd Lindberg won a Quill and Scroll award for an editorial entitled "Physical Education Befuddles Students". The Echo staff proved that success could emerge from the depths of confusion.

GAA

The Girls' Athletic Association is a national Club which worked to get G E students involved in physical education intramural programs. Although anyone could participate in GAA events, hard-working club members earned points for their club efforts, which were compiled and then contributed toward awards given at the end of the year. The club sponsored a playday at the beginning of the year, a co-ed play night, and a Christmas faculty tea.

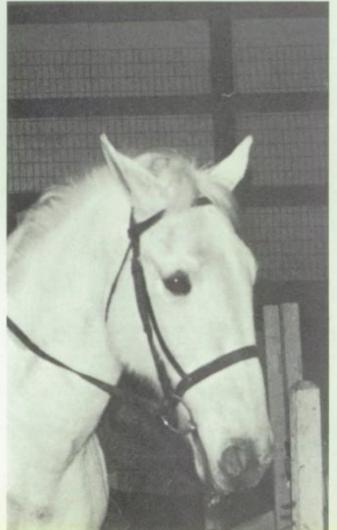

Horseman's Club

This year the Horseman's Club, led by committee chairpersons Claudia Kiesow, Ralph Faillo, and Donna Sucato, participated in many activities. These activities centered around visiting a horse hospital, visiting stables, and giving and listening to lectures concerning different phases of horse care. Mrs. Jones, the advisor, organized a picture sale to raise money for the club's activites. In addition, riding lessons, sponsored by the school, were well attended.

Mime

During the few moments of spare time between the first and second plays of the school year, the mime troupe was organized. After three weeks eight students were selected from 25 members to become the official members of the troupe. These eight students worked to perfect the techniques of mime. Their skills were on display during three evening performances. They also put on shows for two elementary schools, the jr. high schools, and the Boy Scouts of Lombard.

Thespians

Thespians is an international honorary organization comprised of drama members who are chosen according to their ability, contribution, and participation in drama activities. To be initiated, a student needed to contribute 100 hours of work in two different areas in two different productions. In the spring of 1977, the Glenbard East State Guild replaced the Thespians. Unlike Thespians, the Stage Guild is an independent society and its purpose is to recognize excellence in the performing arts.

Circus Stunts

Unlike most clubs at GE, Circus Stunts was also a PE class. It performed at parents night, PTA programs, cub scout meetings, and junior high school assemblies. Members learned acrobatics, juggling, tumbling and created clown skits.

Pep Club

The purpose of the Glenbard East Pep Club was to instill spirit and pride in GE students. The members cheered at various girls' and boys' sports events, made signs to inspire players, and raised the flag at football games. During Pep Week, the club dedicated one day to each athletic activity and held elections to choose the most spirited GE students. At Homecoming and Parent Night, flowers were presented to the mother of each player. To raise money, the Pep Club held a kick-off dance in September and delivered carnations from admirers on Valentines

Radio Club

The Radio Club had problems this year due to its lack of membership. Consequently, all of the students were not able to enjoy the music usually provided by the club members. This year the officer were Dan Holm, Ken Henke, Paul Williams, and Mark Decker . Every Wednesday, Mr. White, the club sponsor, met with members of the club to teach them more about radio broadcasting and technology.

Ski Club

Sub-zero temperatures and lack of snow affected some of the Ski Club's expeditions. Even though trips during the season were limited, the group did go to Alpine Valley, Wilmot Mountain, and enjoyed one overnight trip to Devil's Head in Merrimac, Wisconsin. In order to make certain everyone learned to ski, from beginner to free style skier, lessons were provided by competent instructors. The club hopes to reschedule a trip to Utah, which was cancelled this year because of the lack of snow.

French Club

French Club members worked to gain an understanding of life in French countries. The club visited restaurants, celebrated French holidays, and sponsored a trip to Quebec. Along with the Spanish Club the French Club gave a Christmas party and a reception for foreign langaguage students. Among the restaurants visited by the members was Cafe Bernard where these candid pictures were taken.

Chess Team

The 76-77 GE Chess team earned an outstanding tournament record. Junior Mark Tanis, the captain, lead the team to 3rd place in Des Plaines Valley League competition. John Reeg placed 1st in the DPVL Conference. At the State Invitational Meet, held at Proviso West, the varsity team took 1st place and the underclassmen won 3rd place at the tournament. GE hosted and won the Lombard District Meet in April. At the meet, one of the top ten chess players in the world, International Grand Master Arthur Bisguier, took on 28 players simultaneously and won every game.

Student Council

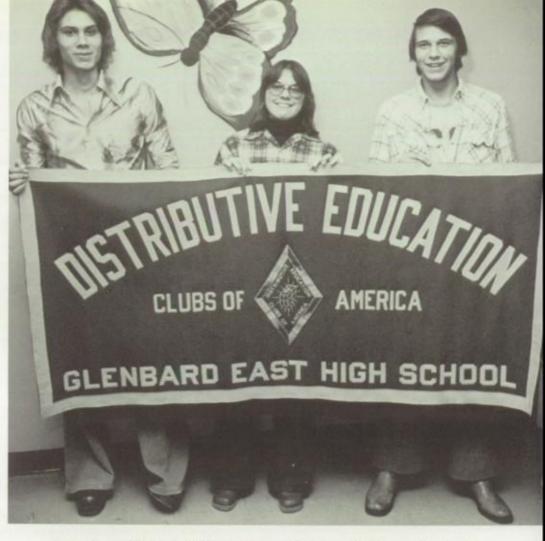

Student Council managed to work around the apathy of the students and had an exceptionally successful year. Student Council was made up of two separate groups: General Assembly and Executive Board. This year's General Assembly, although smaller than desired, helped voice their classmates' opinions at the meetings and also amended the Student Council Constitution. The General Assembly was made up of one representative from each second hour class. The Executive Board, consisting of one elected member from each grade and the Student Council officers; Sara Butler, Mike Inglimo, Kathy Kanara, and Julie Dlugopolski worked out the finer points of the projects and came in frequent contact with the administration.

Distributive Ed

Distributed Education, sponsored by Mr. William Swearingen, is a program of instruction which teaches merchandising, marketing, and management to students. In honor of National DECA Week, November 14-20, the club contributed fifty dollars to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. They also sponsored a Christmas Party for retarded children at West Suburban. In February and March students attended area and state DECA meetings.

Office Occupations

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America is a national organization for students enrolled in trade, technical, and Industrial Cooperative Education classes. Its purposes and activities relate to students in preparing them for the world of work. To be eligible to join VICA one must be enrolled in either the Industrial Cooperative porgram or the Diversified Occupations program.VICA provides the framework for some leadership experience for those students who are enrolled in these programs. Office Occupations is a specialized field for students who wish to pursue some line of work in the secretarial science field. The experiences these students become involved with relate to many different types of office jobs. In the classroom skills are sharpened while learning so that each student is able to perform different tasks required in offices. This learning experience is transferred to the work world since a related job, entrailing 15 hours a week of work in an office, becomes part of the course of study.

This year's Cross-Country team came through again with another winning season. Coached by Mr. Roger Stieglitz, the team compiled a 6-2 conference record.

Even though the runners weren't at full strength at the end of the season, they finished in a close second behind West Leyden at the Conference Meet. The Rams finished fourth in the twenty team Proviso West Invitational. The Rams missed qualifying for the Sectional Meet by one place, although senior, Larry Schertz qualified individually. The teams top runners for the year were Larry Schertz, Tim Miskiewicz, Tom Rottmann, Tom Hoganson, and Brent Peterson. Top runners for the underclassmen were Tim Schertz and John Ryan.

As Coach Bill Sergeant noted, "The team finished 1st in Conference play, 2nd in the Champaign Tourney, the premier tourney in the state, 3rd in the Fenton Invitational, won the district meet by 17 shots over the second place team, finished 3rd in the Sectionals, and 6th in the state." The team had a great deal of support from District Champion, Dave March, and Individual Conference Champion, Mike Frey, who placed 10th individual in the state.

Although about half of the Varsity team will graduate, Coach Sergeant said, "It is the best team I've coached in 14 years."

The Wrestlers compiled a conference record of 1-6-1 under the direction of Coach Tom Minser. As in past years, the Rams have had problems with state contenders East Leyden, West Leyden, and Addison Trail. Since the team is young, with eight sophomores and two juniors, they should improve with more experience. Outstanding individuals were Jerry Kelly, Tim Disantis, Keith Oleson, and Tim Schertz.

Outstanding performances were turned in by junior Dixie Segraves, who qualified for the state meet by high jumping 5'3" while Sondra Schmidt set school records in the 880 and the mile run with times of 2:24 and 5:37 respectively. Sondra missed state qualifying time in the 880 by one second and was also voted the Most Valuable Player by her teammates.

Track

This year's track team had an outstanding year and won honors as indoor and outdoor conference champions. The team won three important meets including the DuPage County Meet and Districts. Outstanding runners included Tim O'Brien, fifth place finisher in the 220 in state finals. Also quarter-miler John Cadagin, pole vaulter Bill Bauman, and distance runner Tom Hoganson, were top runners of the year. This year's track team was well balanced with strong performers in each event. Coach Chapin felt that next year's team could accomplish the same record this year's team did. All that would be necessary would be hard work and determination to win.

Freshman Baseball

The Freshman Baseball team won four games and lost twelve. Coach Traeger felt that the team could only improve, and attributed the team's losses to the age of its players. Usually at least half of the team consists of fifteen year olds, but this year all but two team members were fourteen. The team's exceptional players were Tom Burdi, Rob Schertz, and Jeff Davis.

Baseball

The G.E. Varsity Baseball Team completed the season with a 20-3 record. The team went on to win the conference championship and did not stop until they had placed second in the State. "We had excellent pitching, the team batting was near .300, in addition to good all-around team defense", said Coach Paul Morris.

The only weak point in the composition of the team that Coach Morris could see for next year was the fact that 7 out of 9 of his starters were seniors. "We must fill 7 of these 9 positions for next year. We have only 9 juniors coming back. It will certainly hurt next year's team," Coach Morris stated.

Outstanding players were Elwaine Hardtke, Tim VandeMerkt, Ken Weislak, Doug May, and Rich Heggen. Elwaine Hardtke, team captain for 3 years, was named All-State pitcher this year. He was also selected the Most Valuable Player in the State Baseball Tournament held in Peoria. Along with all of these accolades, Elwaine has accepted a 4 year scholarship to attend the University of Missouri.

Tim VandeMerkt, an All-Conference catcher, set a school record in RBI's season (22). Tim will be attending lowa State University on a football scholarship. Ken Weislak, All-Conference shortstop, led the team in base hits - season (31), greatest number of stolen bases - season (14), and highest batting average during his last 2 years (.394) at G.E. Other outstanding contributors to the team were Doug May and junior Rich Heggen. Doug, an All-Conference left fielder, batted .368 this season. Rich, a regular at first base, chalked up a 5 wins-1 loss pitching record.

Softball

The softball season is very short, lasting only two months. However, this does not dampen the spirits of the girls. Some of the outstanding players of the team this year were Sandy Schalund, pitcher, Donna Baker, short, and Chris Pomahac, second base. The team looks forward to a successful year next year since most of this year's players will be returning.

Tennis

The tennis team finished with a 9 - 4 conference record. It finished 5th in the Conference and 3rd in the District.

Outstanding players were Chris Neufeld, Joe Rieger, and Paul Kelly. Coach Joe Milek is optimistic about next year.

"We have a young team with some very good sophomores coming up. We should be strong next season."

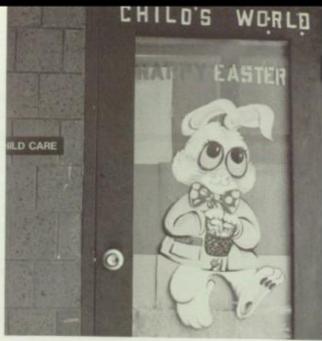

DAVEA

The DAVEA Center is a joint effort by high school districts in DuPage County. The basic purpose of the DAVEA Center is to offer training which will provide certified employability to students. The broad career programs offered enable the student to gain the qualifications essential for employment in a particular area. The career program divisions are: Applied Sciences Division, Business Occupations, Industrial Division, Personal and Public Service, and Transportation Division. Within each broad area, a student may choose to specialize in a selected area within that career division. An example of this would be finding Child Care, Cosmetology, Food Services and Media Techniques all catagorized under the Personal and Public Service area. DAVEA has become a popular elective for the students at East, and each year we find more and more student participation.

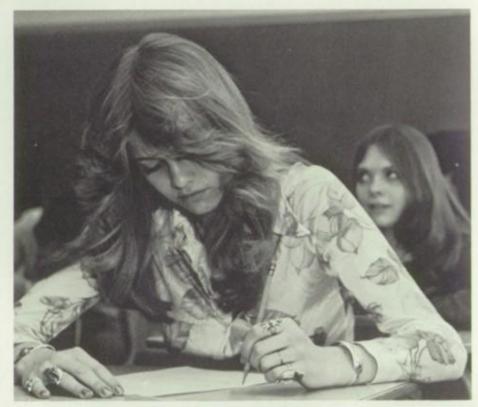

English

One of the important goals of the English Department was to place more emphasis on teaching and developing reading and composition skills. These skills are necessary to master with some proficiency whether a student be college bound or entering the world of work.

Mr. Robert Lindsey is in charge of the reading lab, and here he assists students who need some assistance in developing their reading skills. The curriculum is an interesting and varied one, offering students a wide variety of choices where one can learn literary appreciation.

Foreign Language

"Au-revoir" and "?Como esta usted?"

were phrases foreign language students became familiar with as they learned the various languages taught at GE. In addition to the structure of the language, teachers discussed such things as the culture of the people, it's customs, folksongs and folkdances, and the art typical of that particular country. Students felt they had not only learned foreign words, but had expanded their horizons regarding other peoples of the world.

This year saw the retirement of Mr. William Campbell, who had been the head of the Science Department since G E opened its doors 18 years ago. He and his wife retired to their farm in Missouri, and with his leaving, the leadership of the department was passed on to Mrs. Jean McKenney.

Another important event, and an honor for the Science Department, was the awarding of funds by the American Association of Physics Teachers to Mr. David White. With this money, equipment was purchased for students in his Physics classes so that they could study and build solar energy cells and collectors. These collectors were built to scale. A presentation was then made to the American Association of Physics Teachers during its spring meeting, and a demonstration of the collectors by two G E students, Karen King and Janis Lovett, showed everyone in attendance how well the collectors worked without supplementary heat.

Math

With the help of such tools as protractors, compasses, and calculators, math students strove to understand the abstract thought processes involved in mathematics. Math courses were offered in a wide range beginning with basic math and progressing to calculus AP. Miss Hempen, in addition, teaches such things as curve stitching and games related to mathematics. The Math Department also concerned itself with current events including examining the structural significance of pyramids. GE math contest finalists, Larry Schertz, Audrey Papenbrok, and Tom Collins placed in the top 10% in the state mathematics competition. The department chairman, Dr. Faist, said the department was interested in showing students that math is fun and can be used in every day life.

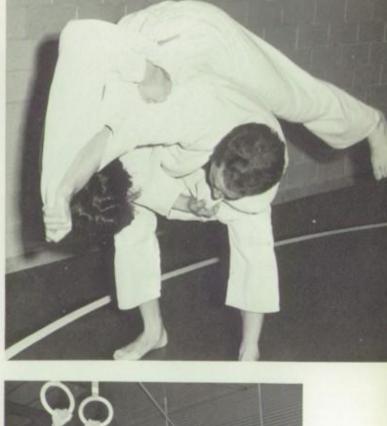

Physical Education

The Boys' and Girls' Physical Education Departments worked hand in hand this year to meet the requirements established under Title IX. A portion of the Act states that separation of activities by sex in physical education classes will no longer be permitted. Consequently, much time and effort was put forth by Miss Mares and Mr. Oleson to establish the frame-work which would comply with the Title IX ruling. The Girls' P. E. Department has seven staff members working diligently to provide a diversified program involving as many students as possible in P. E. activities. Each semester climaxed with something special for the girls. The big event at the end of the first semester was dressing up to resemble Christmas trees for fun and games. At the close of the second semester the teachers organized a revision of the show "Almost Anything Goes." The Boys' P. E. Department, under the leadership of Mr. Steve Oleson, stressed the importance of physical fitness through participation in team sports and individual endeavors. It was a busy, but rewarding, year for them all.

Drivers Ed And Health

At last! Driver Education.
Sophomores no doubt will recall endless lectures regarding safety on the road, eye examinations, tense moments behind the wheel and finally a permit which tells the world, watch out! The department kept close tabs on who drove when and chalked up hours verifying all of this for the State.

In Health classes, Cecil a lifesized replica of the human body, aided students in their study of the human anatomy. Interesting questions about ourselves and how to keep our bodies in healthy and working condition were constantly answered. Students in First Aid classes were taught to give the necessary emergency First Aid in the event they were called upon to do so. How to stop bleeding, what to do if someone stopped breathing, how to handle heat stroke, and the procedure to use with shock victims were major divisions of the course of study.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts Department features five main areas: Woods, Drafting, Auto Power, Electronics, and Metals. It is designed to teach the basics of various industrial skills and trades. Some of the more specialized courses are carpentry, cabinet making, solid state electronics, and advanced metals.

On May 13 the Industrial Arts Department displayed the results of its annual exhibit of excellent carpentry and sophisticated electronics completed by the students in their respective classes during the year.

A new problem facing the department, and one which it is resolving, is the process of changing measuring devices from the English system (feet, inches) to the metric system (meters, grams). A great deal of ground work and preparation lies ahead so that the department will comply with the requirements of the law.

Home Economics

The Home Economics Department staff members taught not only domestic skills but also more advanced skills which could be used as a basis for students interested in home economics careers. Tailoring, gourmet foods, and advanced clothing construction techniques, all helped serious minded home economics students broaden their horizons. This year a new course called home crafts taught students rug hooking, embroidery, and other skills used in the home. Many of these interesting projects were on display in the showcase where they inspired much comment. Several chef foods classes chose one day during the semester to invite various teachers and friends to drink tea and sample their pastries. As in past years, the department displayed sewing projects completed and presented a fashion show in Biester Auditorium.

Art

To perfect their artistic skills art students took a variety of art courses including sculpture, painting, design crafts, and ceramics. The Art Department offered a wide range of courses. Mrs. Elftmann, chairperson of the department, encouraged individualism and experimentation in the department. In the annual Scholastic Art Awards competition, Lou Bamber and Pat Ohlenroth won blue ribbons and gold key awards, and they were chosen to represent GE in national competition. Frank Augsberger also received a gold key award, and six other student projects won honorable mentions. In May the department unveiled its annual Art Show where student projects were on display.

Speech And Drama

Everyone, at one time or another, has experienced that dreadful feeling of inadequacy which overcomes us while standing in front of a group giving a speech and trying to convince the listeners our viewpoint is the correct one. The Speech Department, with all of its speech requirements, tried to help us overcome these feelings. Some of us were successful, some were not. Students who enrolled in courses offered by the Drama Department needed only to have an interest in Drama as a pre-requisite to enjoying the classes. The department hums along, offering a good range of selections.

Special Education

This program offers special services to students who have needs that cannot be met in a regular class program. The major special classes taught this year fell into the following catagories: learning disabilities, visually impaired, mentally handicapped, and behavior disorders.

With the help of specially trained teachers, special education students are able to take part in some of the regular school activities most of us take for granted. For example, a student may be enrolled in special academic classes but then be permitted to join other students in a regular P.E. class.

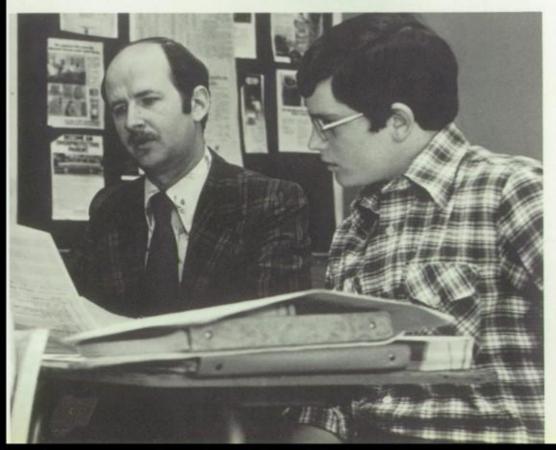

Business

One of the important goals of the Business Education Department is to give every student who goes through business education a marketable skill by the time he or she graduates from G E. This is primarily achieved through the main areas of instruction — typing, shorthand, accounting, and secretarial science. A part of business education which every student must take is consumer education for one semester. This course enables him to better understand the consumer role.

Social Studies

With a variety of subjects to choose from, the Social Studies Department made good use of audio-visual aides and current literature in an effort to make students better understand the points of view of peoples of all ages and nations. Controversial issues including poverty, war, and prison reform, were topics of discussion and interest for everyone.

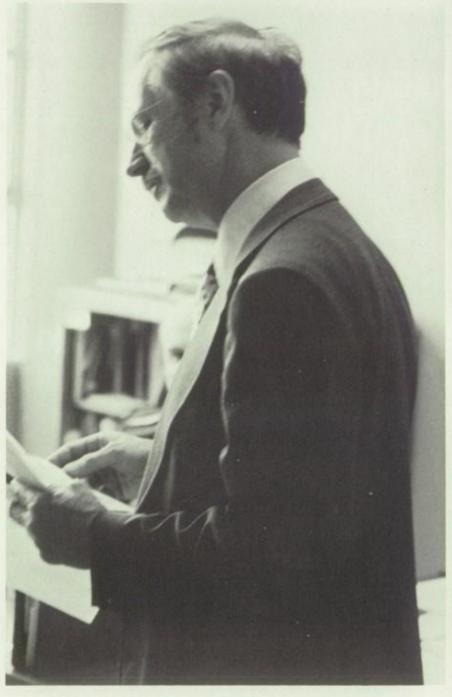

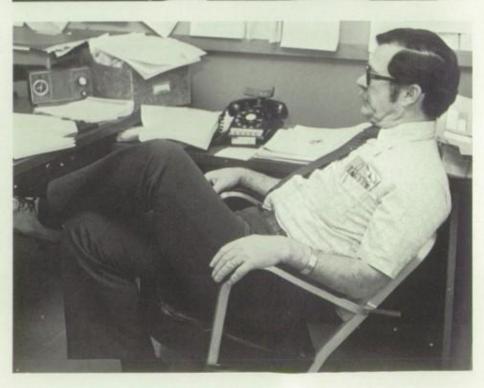

Guidance

Although Guidance Counselors were kept busy re-scheduling student programs due to course changes and tracking down students according to the truancy policy, they still found time to help with student problems, advised students about their post-graduation plans, administered necessary scholarship tests, and helped to meet the individual needs of students. Career counseling and college placement also required the counselors' attention. Graduation time came, and as usually happens, tears were shed, sorrow was expressed, and much gnashing of teeth resulted when some students realized credits were short or classes were failed, thus not being able to graduate.

Administration

The administrative staff implements the policies of the Board of Education in conformance with the rules and regulations of the Superintendent of District 87. Mr. Rider, principal of G. E., delegates to his administrative staff the many duties and responsibilities which, under his leadership, help to provide the excellent educational program offered at Glenbard East.

Aries 1977

The Aries staff worked a full year to complete this book. The staff was able to overcome lack of experience on behalf of new members, nearly missed deadlines for publication, and experienced a feeling of wonderment as to how it would all work out! The editors, however, continued to plod through the endless number of tasks involved in yearbook making. Yet in the midst of the confusion, Aries groupies had several fun parties and dinners involving all staff members, and many new friendships evolved, meshing all of this into the Aries family.

Most G E students were happy to find that District 87 tax roll-backs had less effect on school life than had been previously expected. Many sophomores who were originally limited to four academic classes were allowed to sign up for another class after the first semester began. Certain extra-curricular activity groups were forced to become more self-supporting as the district no longer had extra funds for club trips and projects.

To the amazement of Glenbard East's administration, teachers, students, and most of all the small but tenacious editorial board, the Aries office once again opened its Aries asylum window in early September, 1976. Although the board began the year with little more than a demented sense of humor and a new sponsor, it worked very hard to recruit several masochistic students and, at the same time, learn the ropes of yearbook making the hard way. Many of our G E students never even passed the Aries office. Those that did go by saw staff members struggling until all hours to meet deadlines.

Aries attempted to take a maximum number of pictures in various situations to get the best possible cross-section of G E inhabitants into the book. Along with the professional photographers from Root Photography Studio, interested students were able to gain photographic experience by taking pictures at various school events. This experience helped keep them abreast of all that was occurring here at G E. Because more pictures were available to those making layouts, staff members strove to put many pictures on each page. Through cooperation from G E faculty and students and long hours spent by workers rewriting copy, Aries tried to give readers the most comprehensive yearbook possible.

Although many times we reached the point where we could hardly be responsible for our actions, our yearbook-related experiences made this a very special year which we shall never forget. In addition to learning how to put together a yearbook, we got to know the exceptional students on our staff. Sometimes we had to jump up and down and threaten, but in the end we were able to pull ourselves together and get our work done. We want to give special thanks to those who helped make this book possible: Mr. Mike Hackleman, our company advisor, the secretaries throughout the school, Dr. Robert Lindsey, Dave Crane, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Smith, Root Photography Studio, Josten's Yearbook Co., Mr. Kies, the Student Council officers, and the Aries staff members. To Mrs. Saimon, our super human sponsor, we want to express our deep appreciation for all the hours of time and frustration, not to mention money, which she spent on us. Taking on our inexperienced staff along with an already endless number of duties, she enabled us to create the 1977 Aries yearbook which you see before you.
